Q1. Enter staff initial.

STAFFID

READ: First, I want to tell you a little bit about the study. Then, if you're still interested, I'll ask you some questions to see if you are eligible to be in the study. This will only take a few minutes.

READ: First, about the study: we are a group of researchers from University of Miami who are working in collaboration with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta and three other universities across the country.

READ: We have developed two programs for HIV-positive drug users. We want to see whether these two programs are effective in helping people with HIV get better health care and prevent the spread of HIV.

READ: If you decide to participate in our study, this is what will happen. First, we'll ask you to take an oral HIV test using a swab to get saliva from the inside of your mouth. This will allow us to confirm your HIV-positive status. We will then draw three tubes of your blood.

READ: After we draw your blood, you will fill out a confidential computer survey about your health, sexual practices, and drug using behaviors. In all, this appointment will last up to three hours. We will give you $30 for your time and effort.

READ: Upon completing the survey, you will be scheduled to begin the program. The first session, where you will be randomly assigned to one of the programs, will be on XXX. If you want to participate, it is important that you be able to attend the first session. If you miss that session, you will not be able to attend the rest of the program.

READ: When you arrive at the first session, you will be randomly assigned to one of two programs. In one program you will attend 10 sessions and in the other you will attend 8 sessions. In both programs, you will meet with 8-12 other HIV-positive drug users.

READ: In one program, you will also meet two times individually with a group leader and attend an activity at a community agency. The focus of both programs is healthy living for HIV-positive people. One program will have more discussions and the other will have more videos.

READ: After you finish the program, you will be asked to come back to our project office three times to fill out a similar computer survey to the first one. This will happen about 3 months, 6 months, and 12 months after the program ends.

READ: Also, at the 6-month and 12-month visits, we will draw your blood for T-cell count and viral load testing.

READ: All information you share will be kept confidential (private) by project staff to the extent allowed by law. By being in this program, others in the program will know that you are HIV-positive.

READ: The researchers will ask you and the other people in the group to use only first names during the group sessions. They will also ask you not to tell anyone outside the group what any particular person said in the group. However, the researchers cannot guarantee that everyone will keep the discussions private.

READ: All intervention sessions will be audio taped so that the project supervisors can listen to how group leaders are doing. Tapes will be destroyed at the end of the study. If you do decide to participate in the study, your name will not be attached to any of the information you give us in the surveys or to your blood samples.

Q2.	Does this sound like something you'd be interested in participating in?
INTRST		1	Yes
		0	No	Skip to instruction before Q41

READ: Now I'm going to start asking you questions to determine if you are eligible. You don't have to answer any questions you don't want to answer, but if you don't answer a question, the computer might not be able to tell if you are eligible, and then you won't be able to be in the study.
